This letter is to follow-up my previous letter to you of September 9, 2004 regarding our public notice of July 22, 2004 proposing that low impact development practices be considered during planning of projects affecting waters and wetlands.

Based on your comments and discussions with many of you, I have incorporated an introduction that explains how we would consider such practices and refined the design checklist and worksheet with all changes in bold and ~~strikeout~~. This revised draft is enclosed. I would appreciate your reviewing the document. So I can obtain your comments and discuss them, I have scheduled the following conference calls:
